

When Should I Buy Organic Produce?

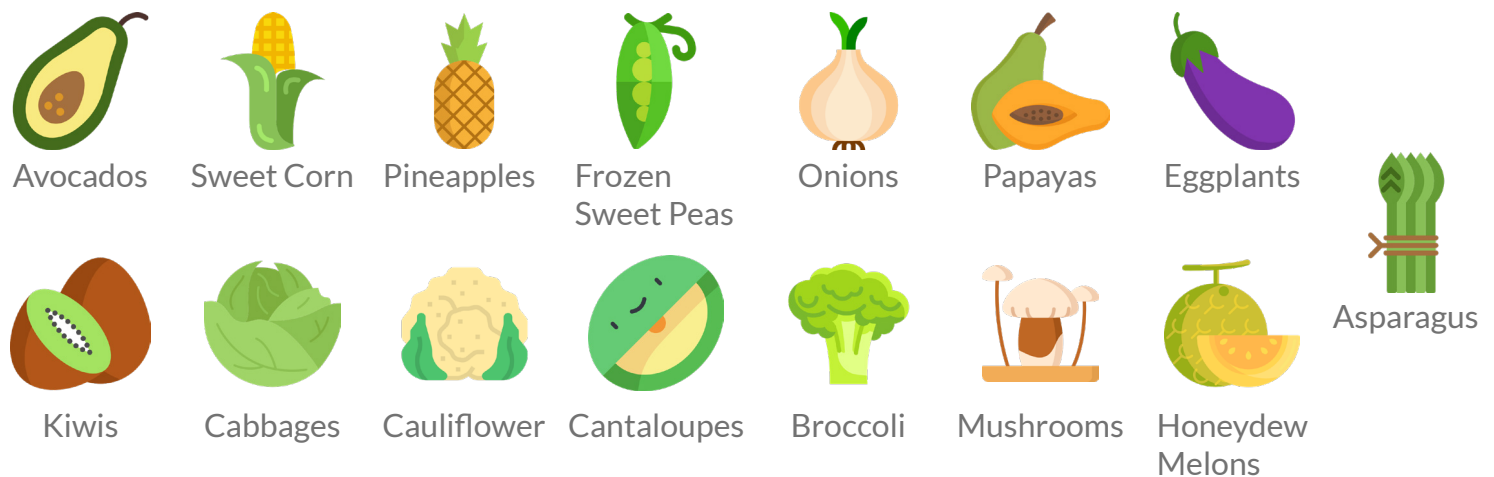

Each year, the Environmental Working Group (EWG) researches and publishes the average pesticide levels found on common produce to help shoppers decide when to buy organic.

2019 "Dirty Dozen"¹

¹ Each year, the EWG creates a "Dirty Dozen" list to identify which fruits and veggies shoppers should buy organic.

2019 "Clean 15"²

² The EWG also creates a "Clean 15," which lists conventional produce that are low in pesticide residue.